How did the Fund perform last year and what affected its performance?

The Fund's Class R4 shares underperformed the MSCI All Country World ex USA Growth Net Total Return USD Index (the "Index") during the 12-month period ended September 30, 2024.

During the period, non-U.S. equities have posted strong returns but lagged their U.S. counterparts, as U.S. mega-cap and artificial intelligence beneficiaries have continued to lead the market.

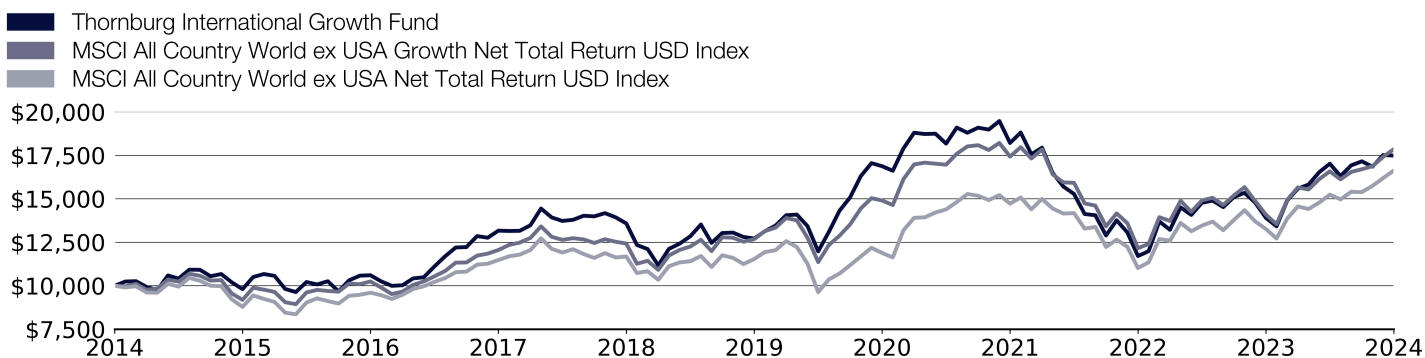

The Fund's underperformance relative to the Index was primarily driven by portfolio allocations across sectors and countries. However, strong stock selection added to relative results, consistent with the Fund's bottom-up investment process. The Fund's cash allocation was a drag on performance.

Within information technology and consumer services, both stock selection and general positioning versus the Index bolstered relative returns. Security selection within South Korea and Brazil also contributed to relative returns. The Fund's overweight exposure to consumer staples and the UK were detractors from relative performance as both underperformed other sectors and countries, respectively.
