This report also describes changes to the Fund that occurred during the reporting period.

What were the Fund costs for the past year?

(based on a hypothetical $10,000 investment)

Class Name	Costs of a $10,000 investment	Costs paid as a percentage of a $10,000 investment
Class A	$161.00	1.47%

How did the Fund perform last year and what affected its performance?

The Fund's Class A shares underperformed the MSCI Emerging Markets Net Total Return USD Index (the "Index") during the 12-month period ended September 30, 2024.

During the period, emerging market equities have posted strong returns but lagged their developed world counterparts. Much of emerging market underperformance was driven by China, where concerns around the real estate market, a weaker-than-expected recovery from COVID-19, and broadly slower economic growth weighed on sentiment.

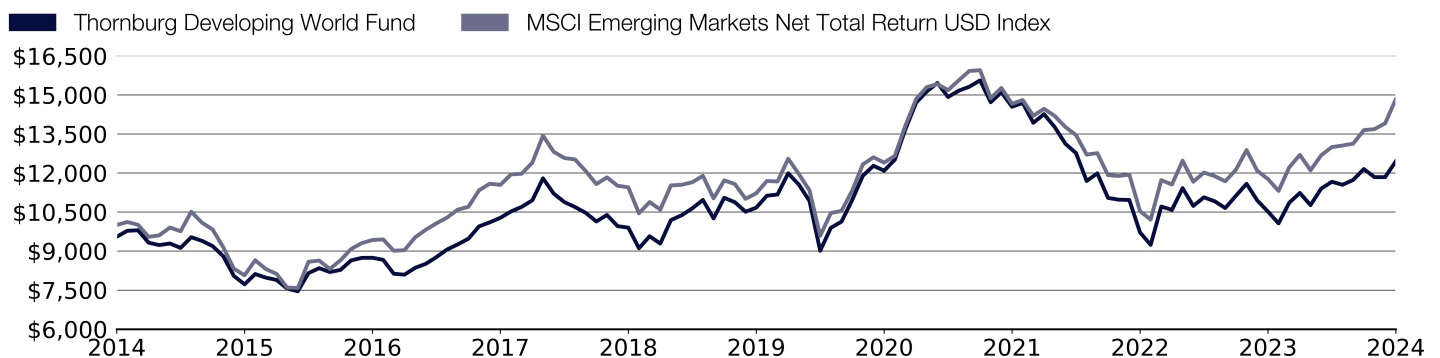

The Fund's underperformance was primarily driven by weaker security selection as well as the Fund's sector and country positioning. The currency effect on the Fund's performance was modestly positive. Positive contributors included stock selection within the consumer staples, information technology and real estate sectors as well as an underweight allocation to materials. Stock selection in consumer discretionary and industrials hampered relative performance.

On a geographic basis, positive stock selection in India and South Korea bolstered relative returns while weaker stock selection in China and Brazil were negative contributors to relative performance.

How did the Fund perform over the past 10 years?

The line graph below reflects a hypothetical $10,000 investment and assumes the deduction of the maximum sales charge associated with that investment. The returns shown in the line graph and table assume the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains, but do not reflect the deduction of taxes that a shareholder would pay on distributions or the redemption of Fund shares. The performance information shown below represents past performance and is no guarantee of future results.
